New Taxes Would Raise Money for Ex-Service Men—Autos, Gasoline, Stock and Bond Transfers and Theatre Tickets Likely to Bear Brunt.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 10.—Congress today found a way to get the money to pay a soldier bonus.

After a lengthy discussion behind closed doors, the tax division of the house ways and means committee agreed upon the imposition of the following schedule of new taxes, designed to raise nearly all of the $250,000,000 which has been estimated as necessary for the first year.

Tax tobacco 2 cents a pound to raise $5,000,000.

Tax cigarettes 50 cents per thousand, $25,000,000.

Tax automobiles 25 cents per horse power, $50,000,000.

Tax gasoline one cent a gallon, $70,000,000.

Tax of one-tenth of one per cent on stock and bond transfers, $65,000,000.

Tax on real estate transfers of $5 per thousand, $20,000,000.

Tax theater tickets 20 per cent when over 25 cents in price, $75,000,000.

The suggested tax of one cent on bank checks was definitely rejected.

The bonus bill will be reported to the house early next week, the leaders said, and rushed to passage under preferential agreements.

Legislative provisions of the "five day" bonus bill were perfected today by a special committee, working under Representative Green of Iowa.

Some minor changes were effected.

City officials of Japan have been busy this week inspecting the plant of the Universal Road Machinery Company in Kingston, preparatory to placing orders for road machinery and other equipment which is manufactured by the company.

The officials who visited Kingston for the purpose of making the inspection were Narumi Iwata, chief engineer of the Section of Public Works of Osaka, and Hiroshi Shimizu, chief engineer of the municipal electric railway of the same city.

Both of the officials mentioned were sent to the United States by the Japanese government to get in touch with city planning and zoning organizations in this country and to inspect along crushing outfits and other machinery which is manufactured by the Universal. The Universal has been in communication with the Japanese government and with various Japanese municipalities through various export agencies.

The inspection of the Universal plant and its products was most thorough. The two Japanese officials had but little time to see the rest of Kingston, but what they did see seemed to please them.

An alarm was turned in from Box 73, to which the fire department responded. In the meantime Officer Fout went to the scene of the fire and found no one home. The table cloth, lace curtains and wood work in the room were burned, but the damage was slight. The fire was practically out when the firemen arrived.

London, Feb. 10.—The threat of border warfare between Irish republicans and Orangemen along the Ulster frontier was somewhat allayed today by a pacific announcement by Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann and a power in the Irish provisional government at Dublin.

No further raids by Sinn Feiners across the Ulster boundary had been reported today.

The Belfast correspondent of the Evening News reported great activity by Irish Republican soldiers on the Free State side of the frontier. In addition to the five thousand police massed along the Ulster border to prevent further raids and kidnapping, the British have shifted heavy forces of troops into Ulster.

MANKES HEARING AGAIN CLOSED

Is Over His Discharge From Bankruptcy—Woman Has Judgment For $5,000 As Part of Dowry of Daughter He Failed To Marry—He Says Mother Schemed To Get Out of Daughters Married.

Testimony was closed Thursday in the contest over the discharge of Herman Mankes of Fallsburgh, Sullivan county, from bankruptcy, which came up in the afternoon before Referee Anson Van Etten at his office on Fair street. Mankes had been recommended for discharge by Referee Van Etten some time ago but objections had been made by Mrs. Sophie Jarrett of Brooklyn and Judge Hand of the U. S. district court had sent it back for the taking of further testimony.

Mrs. Jarrett's objection was that Mankes had placed in his schedules of indebtedness a claim of $300 to one Herman Feldbuh, which she claims was false. Herman Feldbuh was examined Thursday afternoon. He was asked many questions by Harold Phillips, attorney for Mrs. Jarrett, but Frank W. Brooks who appeared as attorney for Mankes the bankrupt, his original attorney D. G. Atkins having died since beginning the proceedings, objected to a majority of the questions and was sustained by Referee Van Etten. Mrs. Jarrett and son Robert were present during the hearing and were in the same very highly nervous state throughout the proceedings as at previous hearings. There was much loud talk.

Mrs. Jarrett has a judgment in $5,000 against Mankes she having alleged she gave him that amount as a portion of a dowry if he married her daughter Hattie, which he did not do. The girl has a breach of promise action against him.

Mankes alleges that there are two Jarrett girls and that the mother schemed to get him to marry one. As an inducement she put up the $5,000 for him to take Robert in as a partner, which he did and the money was lost in business.

Staples, Watts and Burgevin Resign from Public Works Board

Resignations Sent to Mayor Crane this Morning—Staples and Burgevin Had Been Members Since Board was First Formed—Watts Had Served for Two Years—New Administration Will be in Full Control of the Board.

Alva S. Staples, David Burgevin and Samuel M. Watts have sent to Mayor Crane their resignations as members of the Board of Public Works. The resignations were forwarded this morning.

Messrs. Staples and Burgevin have been members of the Board of Public Works since that body was created by legislative act several years ago. Mr. Watts was appointed two years ago, after his term as president of the common council expired. All three were appointed to the board by Former Mayor Canfield.

While confirming the report that they had resigned, the three men were reticent as to reasons, stating that their written resignations, in the hands of Mayor Crane, spoke for themselves, and declining to state the contents thereof.

With three vacancies on this important city board to fill, Mayor Crane will be in complete control of the Board of Public Works, which will be composed of men of his own choice and in complete accord with his plans and policies.

ONE THING SURE IN COAL SITUATION

That is That Mines Will Suspend

April 1, Says Local Dealer, Who Advises People to Put in Supply For April and May.

Kingston, N. Y., Feb. 9, 1922.

Editor, The Freeman:

Many people are wondering what to expect this spring in regard to the coal situation. As the newspapers have stated, this year, for the first, the agreements with both the anthracite and bituminous coal miners expire on April 1st. Kingston is primarily an anthracite, or hard coal, market. In this field the miners are asking an increase in wages of twenty per cent, whereas the mine owners are demanding that the present rate of pay be reduced, claiming that there can be no reduction in the price of coal until there is a reduction in wages.

Some think that there is certain to be a coal strike, others fear that additional labor organizations may become involved. Whether either of these occur remains to be seen. One thing at least is certain, there will be a suspension of mining on April 1st, to last until a new working agreement is arrived at.

Considering all the facts, we believe that it is advisable for the householders to store enough coal between now and April 1st to last them during April and May. By doing this they will not only be prepared for any emergency but will help to bring about normal conditions in the coal industry.

Yours truly,

PALEN & BOUTON COAL CO.

ICE HARVESTING ABOUT THROUGH

Ice harvesting on the Hudson river in this vicinity will be completed Saturday afternoon, according to Superintendent Fred J. Baker, of the Knickerbocker Ice Company, who expects to complete filling the houses at Turkey Point, Flatbush and Esopus at that time. This season the Knickerbocker only harvested ice at six ice houses. The other three houses were the South Rondout house, the East Kingston house and the one at High Point, near the Turkey Point house. Altogether the Knickerbocker will house about 120,000 tons in the six houses.

The ice this season has averaged a foot in thickness and was clear water ice of the best quality. Last winter no ice was secured from the river.

All of the Kingston retail dealers have harvested all the ice needed for the summer's consumption in the city.

There has also been and is fine skating on both the Rondout creek and the Hudson river. On New Hamburg the sport of ice yacht racing is being enjoyed and at other points along the river.

On the upper Hudson river ice harvesting is still in progress but will shortly be completed.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 10.—The stock market showed a strong tone at the opening today, good fractional gains being made in nearly all the active issues. U. S. Steel showed a loss of 1/4 at 88 1/2 while Bethlehem Steel B was 1/4 higher at 65 and Lackawanna Steel moved up 1/4 to 49 1/2. Mexican Petroleum rose 1/4 to 116 1/2 and General Asphalt was half higher at 61 1/2. Adams Express showed a gain of 1 1/2 at 60 1/2. The railroad shares showed small fractional gains, New Haven being 1/4 higher at 18 1/2.

After the reaction in the leading issues in the first few minutes, the market developed a steady tone and in the late forenoon some issues made substantial gains.

The declines which occurred in many stocks in the early afternoon were followed by firmness and many stocks rallied sharply from the low levels. Baldwin Locomotive sold up from 102 1/2 to 103 1/2 and Crucible rallied from 61 1/2 to 61 3/4. Mexican Petroleum was actively taken, selling up from 115 1/2 to 116 1/2. Steel Common rallied 1/4 to 88.

The market closed irregular; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds irregular.

REFORMING NEWSPAPERS.

"A Reformed Bank Burglar," writing in a current magazine, says that "One of the greatest aids to the modern criminal is the newspaper," and he suggests as the first of new police methods: "Keep the press from being a reference book for criminals."

Illustrations of the way in which newspapers aid criminals include alleged statements of several bank burglars that they had read newspaper accounts of how successful burglars had made big hauls and they thought they could do the same. The criminal, says the writer, "has found that a careful study of the newspapers will give him information as to shipments of money, or goods that can be easily turned into money. He gets a tip from a newspaper that a motor truck is being used to transport thousands of dollars worth of silks. The rest is easy. In the darkest stretch of the road he holds up the truck, kicks the driver off the seat, and drives on."

How thrilling! And how interesting—if true.

"Over $5,000,000 worth of silk and woolen materials were stolen in this way in the last eighteen months," continues the reformed bank burglar. "The robbers only slowed up when the trucks began to travel in armed convoys. The hold-up men read about the arming of the trucks—and quit the game."

But didn't the newspapers continue to publish announcements of what trucks would continue to go single and unarmed? Didn't they describe the routes to be traveled and give the hour of departure? Did they give information only about trucks that were traveling in armed convoys? And in giving out that information were they not seeking to encourage the hold-up man to continue a life of crime in other channels by warning him where he was likely to get the deadly lesson of lead?

Where, by the way, are newspapers which print the tips the reformed bank burglar writes about? To be useful, the information must be specific. Is there a newspaper anywhere that considers such information of sufficient news value to justify its publication? Would newspaper readers, outside the criminal class, continue for more than a week to buy newspapers whose columns were filled with such "news"? Does the newspaper announcement that motor trucks are being used to transport all kinds of commodities suggest the possibility of crime any more than announcement that railroad shipments are unchanged or are increasing?

The reformed bank burglar says criminals have changed since the World War which gave them a taste of respectability that they like because "for the first time in their criminal lives these men found themselves regarded as equals by men who would have despised them had they known what they had been." Did the criminals try to justify the confidence honest men imposed in them? No. The reformed bank burglar says they became bootleggers, which is "comparatively safe" and allows them to "associate with the men whom they intend to rob." But didn't the newspapers suggest bootlegging? Don't the criminals hurriedly consult the newspapers for further information than they are able to procure from association with the men they intend to rob before robbing them?

The sub-sister talk of the reformed bank burglar about newspapers is astute. If a reformed bank burglar is competent to direct public morality through newspapers, why not open for him an additional field by putting him in the church pulpit or the Sunday school superintendency, or in banking or other business? Or do those organizations consider that responsibility and morality are better entrusted to men whose lives are of proved daily decency?

"No rogue ever felt the halter draw. With a good opinion of the law."

The same condition is true of the criminal and the newspaper.

"SMUT"

The news columns of the newspapers throughout the country have been featuring lately developments in the lives of the movie folks which are not at all surprising to those who have been giving the subject of moving pictures careful study and thought.

"Art for art's sake" is a common enough expression, but it is hardly necessary to state that those who handle smut will invariably be stained. It is absurd upon the face of it to expect those who act in pictures that verge perilously upon the border line of decency not to have it affect their lives, leaving a stain upon their characters.

The movies have an important duty to fulfill in the world of amusement, and the quicker producers and actors realize that clean pictures should be produced the better it will be for all concerned.

From time to time there is a demand for a strict censorship of the pictures, but those who produce and act in the pictures know without being told whether a picture is clean or not. There would be no need of a censorship if those who have the best interests of the profession at heart would awake to conditions that exist. Smut in the pictures means smut in the private lives of those who produce and act in them.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Dept. of this paper. Look for answers in this column.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Did the wild crab apple of North America originate from sports of the domestic apple or vice versa?
2. Please tell the habits and life of the muskrat?
3. What is the mating season for gulls? Where do they nest?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. I have a nine months old alligator that will not eat, and it cries at night. What shall I do for it? Alligators are native to warm climates and tepid waters. Unless you can keep your specimen in a temperature of air and water from 75 to 80 degrees Fahrenheit, it will not feed and will slowly starve to death. It requires some sunlight by day, as well as artificial heat in its tub. Of course you don't want to boil the creature, but to keep it warm you will have to place the tank near some source of artificial heat. Feed it minced meat, fish, crab or similar food, worms, etc.

2. How do eels propagate? By eggs, like any fish. They are deep-sea creatures, and live in a larval stage for about two and a half years in sea water, but after that begin to work toward fresh water and upstreams, where they feed and grow for a number of years. When fully developed they return to the sea and spawn there, dying (it is thought) after spawning.

3. How does the partridge or native pheasant make the drumming noise? Does the sound come from the wings or from the leg he drums on?

We reply in Mr. Burroughs' own words: "His drum is really his small, hollow wing bones, which he strikes with his feet. He frequently drums upon a rock or a stone wall. If a suitable log be not handy, and no ear can detect the difference."

HOW

"TAPESTRY FORESTS" OF HAWAII WERE STARTED.

The Hawaiian islands were thrown up ages ago from enormous volcanic eruptions that opened in the Pacific floor. Even to this day the eruption has not ceased. The mountains of the archipelago, with the passage of a great length of time, have been weirdly worn by terrible rains, so as to present to the view fantastically carved canyons and gorges, flanked in many places by almost vertical cliffs.

Upon the face of these cliffs flourishes a dense growth of "tapestry forest," as it has been called, composed of many species of trees strangely dwarfed in order to enable them to cling, supplemented by a shrubby undergrowth and woven into a continuous mantle. The soil on the cliff faces is necessarily thin, and, to save themselves from being blown off, the trees develop an intricate system of anchoring and bracing roots, forming in many a steep place natural ladders up which the natives climb.

The tapestry growth is saturated with water like a sponge, the rainfall in the parts of the islands where it flourishes being extraordinary. To the eye, with its variations of gray-green, yellow-green, olive-green, silver-green and scores of indistinguishable shades, it has a rich, mottled, velvety effect, as if of a wondrous woven drapery. Now and then landlides occur, making great rents in the drapery, which are slow to heal. The repair work begins with grasses; other humble plants follow and eventually, when enough soil is available, trees sprout and establish themselves. —Philadelphia Ledger.

MAKE HOME HEALTH RESORT

Why It Should Not Be Necessary to Travel to Secure Needed "Change of Climate."

"The search for a better climate," says the Journal of the American Medical Association, "frequently means, as every clinician well realizes, a change in something more than meteorological environment. It is not the air for the lungs, the temperature for the skin, the altitude for the circulation, or such incidents that alone are sought. Social, mental and physical changes occasion their own beneficial or baneful transformations. Many of the advantages which rest, recreation, diversion, outdoor life, relaxation, altered diet, expert medical attendance and proper hygiene secure under the guise of a 'change of climate' frequently could be obtained at home with less real hardship to the patient."

"Frequently the home will become a health resort if it can be made a pleasure resort. In the case of specific diseases such as tuberculosis, we gradually have learned the importance of teaching the patients how to live at home. The burden of recovery no longer is shifted solely to the 'resort' in a far away place. Have we not neglected all too often the possibility of taking advantage of local climates? Perhaps it will become more popular in the future to seek health at home. Then the choice of climate will no longer require a nerve-racking decision."

How Chinese Women Are Working.
 Chinese women are rapidly assuming a more prominent position in the economic and business affairs of that country. Miss Zung Wei Tsung, who went to London to represent Chinese women at the International Working Women's congress, tells the London Express that Chinese women in Shanghai are not unlike English women in many things.

They shop, they drink tea in restaurants, and they go to the movies with their husbands and children. It is only in a few old conservative families that the women are kept in the seclusion of their homes.

"Few Chinese women work, and you do not see them in banks and stores," continues Miss Tsung. "But this state of things is changing. Next year there will be a new telephone company that will employ girls as operators. Many are studying shorthand and typewriting; railway companies employ girls now as ticket agents, and recently a number of women entered for a civil service examination."

How She Played Sir Walter.

The duke of Westminster recently came to the rescue of beauty in distress in the person of the Anglo-French actress Alice Delvys, with as ready gallantry as Sir Walter Raleigh's when he saved Queen Elizabeth's feet from the mud.

The actress was motoring from Canterbury and sought to cross the Spanish frontier at Hendaye, but ran up against the immovable Spanish customs men, who demanded 50,000 francs, as the Spanish laws against automobile smuggling provide for a money deposit equal to the value of the car.

Not having such a large sum, she was about to turn back, when a motorist who said he had often applauded her performance in London asked if he might be permitted to offer assistance. The permission was granted, and the stranger presented the customs officials a check. It was signed by the duke of Westminster.

OLD CITY ON TEMPLE SITE ARE AND THE MODERN YOUTH

American Archaeologists Have Convinced Themselves of Facts Concerning Ancient Egypt.

Dr. H. G. Hensley, keeper of the Ashmolean Museum in Oxford, recently gave a series of lectures on the excavations conducted by American archaeologists at Saqqara. About fifty Latin inscriptions were discovered in the temple ruins by the Americans. Most of the inscriptions were found, however, on the lower slopes of the mountain at the rear of the temple.

The object of the undertaking was to settle the question as to whether the temple columns stood on the site of the ancient Saqqara or whether it had disappeared with the collapse of the acropolis. The archaeologists satisfied themselves that the ancient town did stand on the temple site. The theory is that the temple was built originally in the Fourth century; indeed, one of the inscriptions discovered dates back to the time of Amenemhat, or about 800 B. C. Traces have also been found of an earlier Saqqara temple under the other fragments. Originally the temple had eight columns in each of the two facades; not many architects today would design a building to support such great weight on such supports.

The work of excavation was greatly facilitated by the importation of a whole railroad from the United States.

322,000 Grains From One.

An experiment to show the fecundity of a grain of wheat has been concluded at the official school of agriculture, Valladolid, Spain, with the result that one grain produced in a year 322,000 grains.

At the end of July 100 grains were sown separately. At the end of September the grains had developed an average of 12 shoots each. These were cut and transplanted and by the end of October each cutting furnished an average of eight shoots, which produced 95 ears each, and each ear gave an average of 50 grains. A simple multiplication sum shows that each of the original grains planted reproduced itself 122,500 times, making a total of 322,000 grains.

Attitude of the Youngsters is by No Means Necessarily a Mark of Disrespect.

When we find the children slipping away, excluding us from their pleasure, it's time to let them understand that we're far from being ready for the wrap heap.

The fact that children don't run to bring father's slippers as they used to, doesn't mean any lack of consideration for the parent who has worked hard all day to support his family. I prefer to think the passing of this custom indicates a hope in the young mind that father hasn't yet reached the slippers age, but still has a stomach not wholly satisfied with warmed-over cabbage.

Slippers are the symbol, the outward and visible sign of approaching senility. Father would be a lot better off if he forsook the old armchair and took the family to a vaudeville show or a movie. When my fifteen-year-old son looks in on me when I'm shaving and asks, cheerfully, "How's the hero feeling this morning?" I am flattered. He doesn't mean to be impudent; he is merely greeting me as though I were a comrade of his own age.

I should certainly forfeit his confidence in my sense of humor if I put down the razor to tell him that in my youth children showed their parents more respect. I tried that for a year or two and it didn't work. My just is nothing to him; he finds the world as it is sufficient for all purposes, and if he can have the car this afternoon he'll be very much obliged. —Meredith Nicholson in Harper's Magazine.

Name Chattanooga.

That city was originally known as Ross' Landing, the name being changed to Chattanooga in 1851. The name is Tsalagi in the Cherokee Indian language and its meaning is unknown, according to the Bureau of American Ethnology in their "Handbook of American Indians."

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

WILLIE'S PIECE.

Her name was Willie, for she was a little Southern girl and Willie is not an unusual name at all for a little Southern girl.

She had a mother and a father, a twin sister named Jessie and two brothers.

Now, Willie had been asked to recite a piece for the school entertainment and gladly Willie accepted. She was thrilled to think that she would get up before the whole school and the friends of all the pupils and the parents and relatives of all the pupils and would recite before them all.

What a magnificent audience she would have. Every one would be so proud of her—and she would be so proud of herself. She was not the least nervous.

She knew she would not be stage-struck.

It would be delightful to get up on the school stage and stand there all by herself while the big assembly hall would be filled with people.

Just think how many pairs of eyes would be gazing upon her! She was particularly pleased to think that the eyes of her father would be watching her.

Her father was a noted judge. He would be proud to see how famous Willie was becoming—already speaking a fine piece at the school entertainment—and she the youngest one in the school to be chosen!

She would pick out a very funny piece to say. She would let no one know anything about it. And she picked out the funniest piece she could find.

"Led From the Stage."

She told those who were arranging the entertainment to put down on the program that there would be a recitation by Willie Reed. She would simply call it a recitation.

They would soon hear how extremely clever and funny a piece it was.

How her father would laugh! Her father loved funny pieces, and her sister, Jessie, would be sure to remember most of it and laugh about it afterward.

"Yes, they would chuckle over it indeed. And so would all those in the audience."

In fact the whole audience would be in fits of laughter, as the saying was. They would be, without a doubt, holding their sides, as they laughed.

It was easy for Willie to learn the piece by heart. She learned it in no time at all and she recited it aloud in her room until she was sure, without a doubt, that she would remember it on the day of the entertainment.

The great day at last came, and all of the relations and parents and friends assembled together. Willie's mother and father, her two brothers and her twin sister, Jessie, were all there.

They sat proudly in their seats and as Willie's turn came they sat a little straighter and felt even more proud. It was pleasant to see Willie.

She was very pretty and had most engaging manners. And everyone could see that her legs were quite steady—she was not shivering with nervousness. She was as calm as a cat could be!

All was very quiet as Willie began to recite.

She recited the first line clearly and distinctly.

Then—she began to laugh. She was thinking how extremely funny her piece was. Oh, it was such a funny piece. And as she thought about it she became convulsed with laughter.

She tried to stop laughing, but she only thought of what she was to say next and it merely made her laugh harder.

It was impossible to stop laughing now. And, in fits of laughter, Willie was led from the stage.

The entertainment went on, but Willie's piece was never heard.

To this day—and Willie is really almost grown-up now—her one regret is that no one heard that piece, for, as Willie says, "It was such a funny piece."

And even as she thinks of it now she laughs. She cannot remember the piece to recite it, but she can remember it well enough to still have it make her laugh.

But, alas and alack, no one ever heard that piece and no one has ever had a laugh over it, except Willie—and maybe, maybe she has had more than her share!

DISHES WE ALL MAY TRY

As this is the season when steamed puddings, rich sauces and hearty dishes appeal, the following will be found suggestive:

Fig Pudding.—Take one cupful each of raisins, chopped suet, chopped figs, sweet milk, and molasses. Sift with two and one-half cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful each of soda, ginger, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add to the dry ingredients the molasses, milk, suet and fruit which has been dredged with flour. Pour into a greased mold and steam three hours—in smaller molds one hour will be sufficient. Serve hot with any liquid sauce desired.

Cheese Salad.—Soak one tablespoonful of gelatin in one-third of cupful of cold water, add one cupful of boiling water, one-half teaspoonful of salt and set aside to harden. When the mixture is rather stiff beat with an egg-beater until fluffy. Fold in one-half pound of good strong American cheese, one-half of a can of pineapples cut in bits and one cupful of whipped cream. Let stand until set. To serve, heap lightly on head lettuce, place half a peach at the side, with a spoonful of boiled dressing on top.

Date Pudding.—To one quart of boiling water add one cupful of sugar, a few grains of salt, then when boiling add one-half cupful of graham flour mixed smooth with a little of the quart of water; boil well and add one pound of dates which have been pitted and cut in bits then cook until smooth; add one-half cupful of walnut meats and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Mix all together and serve with cream. This makes six large servings.

Cocoa Angel Food.—Beat the whites of five eggs until foamy, add one-quarter of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar and beat until stiff; stir in lightly one cupful of sugar. Sift together one teaspoonful of bicarbonate, one-half cupful of flour and one-fourth of a cupful of cocoa, one teaspoonful of vanilla. Mix well, then pour into an angel food pan and bake one-half hour. Cover with boiled frosting to which has been added fruit and nuts.

What Causes Air Pockets?

Air pockets have long been a menace to aviators. Those who are familiar with water eddies and whirlpools, can readily visualize air pockets, since they are formed in much the same way. Air pockets are caused by local refraction of the atmosphere. Cyclones are really air pockets on an enormous scale. Small air pockets vary in diameter from a few feet to several hundred feet. Airplanes diving into an air pocket are sucked downward and the aviators lose all control. Unlike the cyclone, small air pockets are absolutely invisible.—Popular Science Monthly.

Distinguished Visitor.

It was the bishop bold of a colorful see, and in the course of his episcopal visitation he arrived at an up-country farm, many miles from anywhere, the proprietor of which was very proud of his knowledge of the world and had instructed his wife to be sure and call the visitor "Lord" whenever she addressed him. The good wife was more generous-minded than her husband, and when dinner began she broke silence with the remark, "Well, Bill, I don't think much of you as a helper. Give the lord some more gravy."

Proportionate Getting.

Once upon a time, according to Harry Emerson Fosdick, who is credited with the story, a minister and his little son walked across the fields on a summer afternoon, to a little church where the minister, a visitor, was to preach. At the door was a box for offerings, in which the visiting minister, as he arrived, placed 50 cents. The regular minister and the congregation arrived shortly after, and the service succeeded. After it, the minister of the church said to his visitor: "Now, I want you to have whatever offerings there are in the box. I don't know how much there may be." The box was opened; 50 cents was discovered, and gravely turned over to the visitor. Silence on the walk home across the fields, until the small son remarked: "Well, Dad, if you had put more in you would have got more out."

Alkal in Shampoo Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle. The best thing to use is Mulisid. It is a pure and entirely greaseless. It is very cheap and beats anything else it is to be compared. You can get Mulisid at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful of Mulisid is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is left fresh looking, bright, fluffy, easy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulisid—Advertisement.

REAL APPRECIATION OF UNSELFISH SERVICE.

Remains in Trip to Mediterranean for Miss Turner.

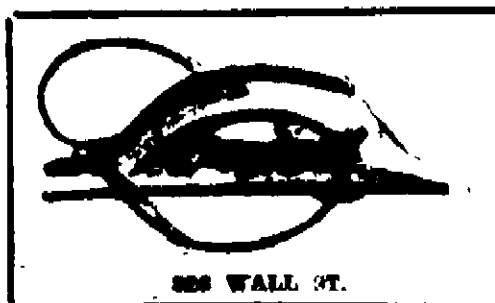

Two weeks ago a committee of former graduates of old Ulster Academy addressed a letter to former graduates and students, suggesting a trip to the Mediterranean for Miss Emma L. Turner, who had been a teacher in Ulster Academy for a long period of years, and since the construction of the Kingston High School has been a member of the teaching force there.

In this time of many requests for contributions, there was some misgiving as to the success of the proposition. The response has been most unusual and inspiring. From many sections of this state, from Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts and Illinois have come not alone checks but in almost every instance letters all expressing gratitude for the opportunity, with words of commendation and appreciation of Miss Turner's service to the individual student, and the work that she has done for the schools of Kingston. That unselfish, faithful service does meet with heartfelt gratitude and appreciation, has again been demonstrated in this particular instance, and the graduates of Old Ulster will be delighted to know that their hearty response has insured the success of the plan, and that Miss Turner will have the opportunity of sailing on the 14th of this month, visiting many of the points of interest concerning which she has been reading and teaching for a long period of years.

K. H. S. TEAMS PLAY TONIGHT

The Kingston High School gymnasium will be the scene of two fiercely fought games this evening when the two Varsity teams of the Newburgh Academy journey to this city to play the two representative teams of K. H. S. The Boys' Varsity of Newburgh will play the local Boys' Varsity and the Girls' Varsity will line-up against the K. H. S. girls.

The first game will start at 7:15 p. m. and will be played between the girls. Miss Selner, the coach of the Girls' Varsity in this city, is very anxious to see the K. H. S. girls trim the Newburgh girls, for Miss Selner is a graduate of the Newburgh Academy and it is her desire to show her old cronies what kind of a team she is capable of coaching. The team thus far has not dropped a game and much keen excitement may be expected from Miss Byrne who last week in the Blonde-Bronette game caged 17 field goals.

Also, the boys have their idol in Herbert Anderson, picked by the Poughkeepsie papers as the one man from Kingston High eligible to attain the exalted position of guard on the All-Hudson quintet. Anderson will be in action. Howard, Dressel, Vogt and Bott will also be in the line-up. The boys' game will immediately follow the girls' game. At the end of the basketball sessions dancing will be indulged in with music by Bott's orchestra. As usual the dancing will be for the alumni and students of the school.

Packing Flowers to Ship.

When packing flowers for mail, fill box, but be careful to avoid the slightest pressure on the blooms. Sprinkle flowers well with water and use only tissue paper to line the box. A good way to pack long-stemmed flowers is to lay them in rows at each end of the box, their stems overlapping in the center. Take a stick just a trifle longer than the inside width of the box and spring it across the center of the box pressing it well down on to the ends of the stems. This plan keeps every bloom from moving and becoming bruised or broken. Roll tissue paper around the stick. This prevents any damage being done to the stalks. Never use cotton wool except when packing very delicate hothouse specimens.

Tampico Terrors.

Tampico, Mexico's great oil port, is on the Pounco river, nine miles from the Gulf of Mexico, and visitors find a choice assortment of vigorous and enterprising mosquitoes; but worse still are the myriads of flies, which exhibit uncanny intelligence. Netted doors on the oil tanks attract them in thousands, and immediately a portal is open they fly in, to scent the whereabouts of delicacies with the initiative of a prohibition officer. During rain the air is unusually damp and malarious, and in dry weather something approaching a sandstorm of the Great Sahara can be enjoyed. Americans working in the oil fields at Tampico earn liberal wages, which most of them feel they thoroughly deserve.

Words' Meaning Changed.

At present scan is used to mean to glance over, but its original meaning was to examine closely. This survives in our term to scan verse. The derivation is from Latin scandere, to climb. The "d" was mistaken for the past participle "ed," hence our modern word. Among other words springing from the same source, and so related to "scan," are slander and scandal. The latter was originally the spring of a trap or the stick upon which the bait was placed. Slander which was variously spelled scandere or scandula, is only another form of scandal.

Red Always Disturbing Color.

Red has been called the king of colors. The bull is not the only creature that reacts red; the elephant, the horse, the dog, the cock, are all alike in this respect. It is sufficient, for example, to cover the doors and skylights of a kennel with red material to cause incessant barking and commotion among the dogs confined therein. A spider and a wasp, confined in a glass case, are reported to have dwelt happily together until a red cloth was placed against the sides, when the insects tackled each other at once and a fight to the death ensued.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Ball Lightning.

Ball lightning, an example of which was seen in northwest London during a recent thunderstorm, is a well-attested phenomenon, occasionally seen during thunderstorms, most usually at sea. It always appears after an exceptionally vivid lightning flash, and is believed to be composed of oxygen and ozone thrown off from a negatively charged cloud. It has the appearance of a luminous sphere falling very slowly, or, when near the ground, moving horizontally, as though repelled by the earth, and finally disappearing as the result of an explosion of considerable violence.

The Dressed from Virgin.

The iron virgin was an instrument of torture in use during the Middle ages. It was a hollow wooden figure, fashioned to represent a maiden of the fifteenth century, and opened like a cupboard, revealing an interior studded with sharp iron spikes. After the victim had been forced within, the lid gradually closed upon him and brought his body in contact with the spikes, which pierced him through and through. There he lingered in dreadful agony, until death relieved him from his sufferings. Beneath the figure was a trapdoor, through which the dead body fell.

Area of a Triangle.

Where the altitude and base of a triangle is known, the area of the triangle is found by multiplying one-half of the base by the altitude. Where the lengths of the three sides of the triangle are known, the area of the triangle can be found by the following rule: From half the sum of the three sides subtract each side separately. Multiply together continually the half sum and the three remainders and extract the square root of the product which will be the area of the triangle.

These Nettles Deal Death.

Any species of nettles is unpleasant enough to handle roughly, but some of the foreign ones are most formidable plants. Several of the East Indian forms are truly dangerous, for, after the first itching sensation has passed away it is often followed by that of hot iron being rubbed on the flesh, and the pain increases to such an extent that after hours—and sometimes days—the patient is seized with symptoms like those following laceration and laceration, while sometimes death results.

Sympathetic.

Tommy came to his mother the other day, crying and complaining that his big sister had been teasing him. "Mamma," he said between sobs, "I wish you would spank Elizabeth." "Now, Tommy," his mother replied, "you wouldn't want to see your sister whipped, would you?" "No, ma'am! But you can take her upstairs and do it where I can't see you."

These Black Birds.

Many people are unable to tell the difference between a rook, a crow and a jackdaw. The rook, when a year old, has a bare face; and its plumage is shiny black; the hooded crow is ashen gray, with a black head; while the jackdaw, though the same size as the rook, has a steel-blue shimmer on its plumage, and its wings are by no means as long as those of the rook. The jackdaw can be distinguished easily from any of the other three, but because it is smaller—being only about fourteen inches long—and, secondly, because it has purplish plumage and a gray neck.

SPRINGFIELD COLLEGE GYMNASTIC TEAM, HERE TOMORROW

The Springfield College gymnastic team will appear for the first time in a number of years tomorrow night at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. A large attendance of members and their friends is anticipated judging by the applications for tickets, have been received. There are however some good seats left and members and their friends may secure these at the office without charge. Prof. Leslie J. Judd who will accompany the team is a former captain of the team and is now faculty coach. During the war Prof. Judd was in charge of the physical and recreational work among the Australian soldiers in France. While giving an exhibition he fell from a piece of apparatus and fractured his neck. He was placed on a stretcher and for three days the doctors did not move him as it was feared death would be the result. After a marvellous recovery he returned to Springfield College 18 months later, resumed his studies and again became a member of the gym team. Mr. Judd will give an exhibition of illuminated club swinging. He was formerly the champion club swinger of Australia.

When the Treasury Building at Washington caught fire the greater part of the district's fire apparatus came to fight the blaze. The fire broke out on the roof and is believed to have been started by a workman's torch. President Harding was among the first to be attracted by the blaze. He watched the firemen from the lawn in the rear of the White House.

Stars in Daylight.

It has been recently found that photographs of stars down to the sixth magnitude (degree of brightness) can be taken in broad daylight, so that astronomical photography need no longer be confined to the night. The discovery follows Lord Rayleigh's finding that the color of the sky is caused by the diffusion of sunlight by the atmosphere, and that the quantity of light dispersed is different in the case of different colors.

If the stellar photographs are taken through a very deep red screen the stars appear with distinctness. Experiments on these novel lines are being carried out at several observatories.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Nature Lesson.

Marion is an observing child. Recently the family motored into the country and was caught in a rain-storm. While waiting for the rain to stop the family, safe in the sedan, was watching horses in a field nearby.

"Isn't it funny," Marion observed, "when it rains the animals always turn in the opposite direction." And friends of animals will agree that most of them, at least horses, do not face a storm, but turn in the opposite direction.

Prevents Motor Skidding.

As an antidisk arrangement, as shown in the Popular Mechanics Magazine, side wheels are placed on a motorcycle recently displayed at a Berlin auto show. Each side wheel is arranged at such an angle from the body as to prevent the machine from skidding or falling over when turning in either direction. These wheels also support the motorcycle when not in use.

POULTRY FLOCKS

TURKEY EGGS FOR HATCHING

They Should Be Gathered Daily Where There is Danger of Them Being Destroyed.

When there is danger that turkey eggs may be chilled or destroyed they should be gathered every day, and a nest egg left in each nest. Skunks, opossums, rats, crows, and dogs are the greatest destroyers of turkey eggs, although occasionally minks, raccoons, coyotes, wolves, foxes, cats, and certain large snakes also eat eggs. When a turkey hen has been disturbed by one of these pests, she may change her nest to some other place and abandon the eggs.

Eggs for hatching should be kept at a temperature of as near 50 degrees or 60 degrees F. as possible, and should be turned over every day, say poultry specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture. They should be jarred as little as possible while handling and should be incubated while fresh, never holding more than two weeks if it can be avoided. It is an excellent plan to mark the date on each egg as it is gathered, in order to be certain that no eggs are kept too long before they are incubated.

PICKING DUCKS FOR BREEDING

Active, Healthy Females of Medium Size Are Recommended—Use Only Mature Fowls.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Ducks are usually mated in flocks of about thirty females with five or six males, as the drakes do not fight one another. The number of males may be reduced to one for every seven females about the first of March, and again changed a month later to one male for eight to ten females.

Active, healthy females of medium size should be used for breeding; that is, weighing about eight pounds when mature. Only mature birds should be used as breeders. Select ducks with short necks, medium long bodies, flat backs and of good depth to the feet bones. Watery eyes usually are a sign of weakness in ducks. The drake is coarser and more masculine in appearance than the duck, and has a distinct curl in his tail feathers. Ducks should be sold, usually, after they are two years old, although the best breeders or layers may be kept over their third year, say poultry specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture.

In handling ducks, pick them up by their necks, as their legs are very easily broken. Ducks lay their eggs early in the morning, and should be confined to the house or pen until 9:30 or 10 o'clock in the morning. If allowed to roam early in the morning they may lay in a pond or stream and the eggs may be lost.

SEEK VACCINE FOR CHICKENS

Field and Laboratory Tests Are Being Conducted at the Kansas Agricultural College.

Experiments involving many field and laboratory tests are being conducted at the Kansas State Agricultural college to determine the efficacy of a vaccine for fowls to prevent cholera, typhoid and rump. It has been determined that cholera and rump are caused by the same organism. In field tests a vaccine prepared at the college by Prof. F. R. Bandette has given some very satisfactory results and this is now being tested out in the laboratory. If these tests are successful more field work will be done by college experts. No vaccine is being given out at this time because the chemists are not in a position yet to guarantee it.

PRODUCING EGGS IN WINTER

Palatable Mash Can Be Made From Mixture of Bran, Meat Scraps, Oats and Meal.

A palatable mash which should produce winter eggs in a well-bred flock of fowls kept in light, roomy and sanitary quarters, can be made as follows: One hundred pounds of bran, 100 pounds of gluten meal, 100 pounds of meat scrap, 150 pounds of crushed oats and 150 pounds of cornmeal. Two ounces of this mash, with one and one-half ounces of cracked corn, and one-half ounce of whole oats should be fed to each hen daily.

Another View of Selfishness. Selfishness does not always apply to the man who is unwilling to share his belongings with others, but it also applies to the man who may have some practical ideas and will not pass them on to his neighbor.

BIG BUILDING ALTERATIONS ON

To Partly Rebuild Mansion House, Changing Forsyth Building for Auto Sales Room, Tearing Down 2 Maden Lane.

The Michael-Campbell Contracting Company were awarded the contract Thursday by Max Leventhal of New York to make improvements to the Mansion House, on lower Broadway, which building was purchased by Mr. Leventhal a few weeks ago. This building was considered unsafe by the fire department a few days ago. The rear of the building will be almost completely rebuilt and the front on Broadway partly reconstructed and other work done to put the building in safe condition.

Several long steel girders have arrived preparatory to tearing out the present lower front of the Forsyth building on Main street adjoining the Eagle Hotel annex to hold up the upper floors. Work will then begin converting the lower floor into a large up to date automobile display and sales room for Forsyth & Davis, local representatives for the Franklin cars.

Work has started on the demolition of the old frame building at 2 Maden Lane which will be the site for the large display room to be built for Sullivan, Inc., distributors of the Packard cars.

Windfall.

A windfall is an unexpected legacy or money dropped as it were from the sky. The saying originated when the English nobility were forbidden by the terms of their estates to tell the under, all the trees being reserved for the use of the royal navy. Such trees as were blown down, however, were exempted, hence a good wind often proved a veritable Godsend.

Real Meaning of Old Saying.

The Englishman's misuse of the aspirate has twisted an old saying in a peculiar fashion. Our forefathers were wont to declare that a person was "as mad as an attic." This has now become "batter" and most people imagine it has something to do with a manufacturer of hats. As a matter of fact the original "attier" meant "adder."

MANHATTAN CLUB A FAST OUTFIT

Original Celtics Defeat Local Team Before Large Crowd—Nick Harvey Proves Good in Fast Company.

Thursday evening between six and seven o'clock basketball fans gathered at the armory and trolley traffic was blocked by the crowds seeking admission. At 8 o'clock the armory was taxed to its capacity and orders from the fire department stopped the sale of tickets. About 2,500 paid admission including a large number from out of town. More than 500 were turned away.

The Kingston team was the first to enter the court, with a new face among its number, Leo Malone, a former Eastern State Leaguer, was the new comer. The Celtics then entered the net and received a big hand from the anxious Johnny Beekman received a warm welcome when his name was announced by Al Turner, the referee.

Nick Harvey was the big gun for the local combination. Featuring in every play, Harvey had the ball by his basket on numerous occasions, only to find the rest of his team safely covered. Malone replaced Leif at center at second quarter. He caged two fields and a foul during the struggle.

The Celtics proved themselves to be stars in every sense of the word. Nat Holman and Dutch Denbert were the big point getters of the evening, each caging three field and two fouls. Johnny Beekman followed with three fields and one foul. Leonard made two from the chalk line. Barry had one point to his credit. Reich who replaced Barry in the last quarter had nothing.

During the first half the Kingston team was kept from a field goal and caged six out of fifteen tries from the penalty line. The Celtics had three fields to their credit and made good five out of twelve tries from the chalk line. The players were unable to reach the dressing room and remained in the net during the wait for the closing period to start. Al Turner, a referee from the Eastern League and the Metropolitan circle, handed out the decisions and proved to be the best the local fans have seen this year.

With six points in the rear Borgeman started the second half by caging a field and a foul, and it looked as if the locals might win out in the second half. But the clever team work of the Celtics enabled them to go within close range of their basket and Denbert and Holman each came through with a field. Jimmie Clinton was fouled and made good his shot. Kingston's new center man dropped in a pretty field basket and was quickly followed by Beekman who caged a sweet shot. This wound up the third quarter, score, Celtics 18, Kingston 12. Reich replaced Barry. Holman sunk one from almost the center. Artus made good two tries from the complimentary. With three minutes remaining to finish the battle, and the locals five points in the rear, Beekman cut loose. Guarded very closely he attempted to shoot, but changed his aim and sunk the ball from a closer range. A very clever shot. Harvey scored the locals' next point making good from the foul line. Holman and Malone made good from the floor and Holman and Denbert also made good from the chalk line, ending the game.

Following the game dancing was enjoyed by a large number to the music of Balle's Orchestra.

Trivial Accident Brings Disaster.

The gypsy moth has caused a great lot of trouble in this country, and much money and energy have been spent in the effort to exterminate it. One of the most serious cases of this pest is reported from a town in the town of Malden, Mass., where a window ledge and it blew off that was in the early stages, and he was making experiments with various kinds of caterpillars as silk spinners.

High Blood Pressure Curable.

High blood pressure can be overcome in most cases by exercise, says the Canadian Life. This cause of the many rejections in life insurance is not usually a permanent disorder. It can be cured by exercising, gently at first, and increasing up to a reasonable amount. Clients who have been rejected on this account should be advised to take up some moderate form of exercise, and in the course of a few months they may be acceptable.

Tides Move Big Building.

The historic Tower of London moves four times daily as the tides of the Thames river ebb and flow. The movement is most pronounced in the part nearest the river. The movement is due to the fact that many tons of water penetrate under the foundations with the rising tide, which movement has the effect of moving upward the whole mass of the tower.

Too Bad!

Little Helen, aged six, was taken to her first baseball game. She became quite excited when her father cheered some particular play and waved his arms. Helen followed suit. At the critical stage, in the eighth inning, the batter got to first and then scooted for second, which he managed to reach just in time by a perfect slide. Helen was quite distressed and turning to her mother she said: "Oh, mamma, what a pity! The poor man slipped."—Boston Transcript.

Ostrich Eggs as Food.

Mr. Gallican, diet expert, who has been experimenting with ostrich eggs supplied by the New York zoological gardens, declares that the food value of the ostrich egg is about the same as that of the domestic hen's egg. The flavor is identical and, although the ostrich eggs contain less protein than meat, they have more fat and a fair amount of phosphorus and iron. One egg will make an omelet sufficient for 20 persons.—The Argonaut.

Little Manufacture in Santo Domingo.

The Dominican republic is primarily and naturally an agricultural country, and manufacturing is carried on only on a most limited scale; in fact, the total motive power employed in the various manufacturing industries in Santo Domingo, the capital and largest city of the republic, is less than 250 horsepower.

Magnetizing Steel.

Magnetism is put into steel or iron by induction from some other magnet or by electric action. If a piece of steel is brought into the field of a magnet it becomes magnetized, and if it is touched or stroked with one end of the magnet it retains this magnetism. Another method of magnetizing is to wrap the steel in a coil of wire, through which is passed an electric current. The steel gradually and slowly loses its magnetism, particularly if it is heated to a high temperature or is subjected to mechanical treatment such as hammering, twisting, etc.

The Silent "H."

The letter "h" is not pronounced at the beginning of the word hour, heir, both, humor, honest, honor, and their derivatives. Many people are unaware of the fact that the word herb does not have its "h" sounded. "It is silent also when it comes after the letter 'r,' as in rheumatism.

Weight Changes Every Hour.

We are lightest when we rise in the morning. Breakfast puts on a pound or so, but we lose some of this by lunch time, when we again add to our weight. After lunch back we go once more, though, as between breakfast and lunch, we retain part of the increase. Then comes dinner, which brings us up to our maximum. We have then gained, on the average, seven pounds during the day. Generally, therefore, the greatest variation during the 24 hours is seven pounds, the weight loss between dinner and breakfast.

Must Be Handled Gently.

If radium were as plentiful and so easily obtained as gold everybody might have a little of it in their lead boxes to protect themselves against its dangerous rays, which it never ceases to give off until it has consumed thousands of years it exhausts itself, having turned into something else.
